ArtLibs

DISCOVER YOUR ART
INTERPRETATION STYLE

What is the ArtLibs Experience?

ArtLibs is a collaboration between the Hood Museum of Art and Dartmouth College's Department of Psychological and Brain Sciences investigating how people arrive at their own understandings of art.

Using the ArtLibs app, we invite you to share your interpretations of a selection of artworks on view at the Hood Museum.

If you are comfortable, you can opt in to have your anonymous responses saved for research purposes. In this case, you will be compensated for your time. Please download the app for more information.

Fill out the ArtLib below:
This circle represents _____. The artist chose these colors because _____. I _____ this artwork.
Wind Dancing with Spring Flowers by Alma Thomas. Purchased through a gift from Evelyn A. and William B. Jaffe, Class of 1964H, by exchange. Photo by Jeffrey Nintzel.

Interested in Participating?

1) Download the ArtLibs app

Available on the App Store

2) Select a work of art from the numbered options on the app's museum map and head to its location.
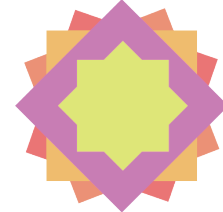

THE HOOD MUSEUM

Level 1    Level 2

LEVEL 1

End Session

3) Provide your interpretation of the art by selecting it on the museum map and pressing the "Interpret" button. The on-screen instructions will guide you through the rest! Please do not read the object label until you have completed the full interpretation task.
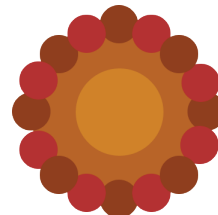

4) When your museum visit is over, press the "End Session" button (found below the museum map) to view your visit summary, which includes information about your museum personality, how you compare to other visitors, and more.
Flexible Appreciator   Cautious Observer

Adaptable Connoisseur   Decisive Critic